Over 1,00,000 students have studied at its institutions, carrying with them not only academic qualifications, but also a strong grounding in ethics, responsibility, and professionalism.

Alumni today are contributing to society in fields including:

- Commerce and finance
- Information technology
- Business and management
- Several allied and emerging domains

The year 2025, marking the Platinum Jubilee, is being celebrated with a spectrum of activities: academic conferences, co-curricular and cultural events, festivals, sporting competitions, and social outreach programmes, all designed to reinforce the Society's commitment to holistic education.

The Visionary Founder

RAJA BANKATLAL BADRUKA (1905-1966)

Raja Bankatlal Badruka drew inspiration from the values of his father and grandfather and translated that legacy into a powerful commitment to education. In 1950, under the banner of the Seth Ghasiram Gopikishan Badruka Educational Society (SGGBES), he founded the Badruka College of Commerce, the first institution dedicated to commerce education to be affiliated with Osmania University.

Starting at a time of limited resources and many uncertainties, he patiently built an institution that would grow into a respected centre of learning. Financial constraints, operational hurdles, and the challenges of the era did not deter him; instead, they sharpened his resolve to create a college that blended discipline, quality, and opportunity.

His contribution was not confined to academics alone. By supporting the construction of water reservoirs and community facilities in Mithari, and opening doors of education to thousands of students in Hyderabad, he demonstrated a rare blend of philanthropy and foresight. His work has the enduring strength and quiet brilliance of platinum – rare, steadfast, and timeless.

The Architect of Change and Progress

SHRI HARIPRASAD G BADRUKA (1928-2020)

In 1962, Shri Hariprasad G. Badruka took charge of SGGBES and served with distinction until 2015. Born in 1928 to Seth Gopikishan G. Badruka and Smt. Moolibai, he regarded education as a patriotic duty and a powerful means of nation-building.

When he assumed responsibility, he did not simply manage an existing college – he expanded a dream. What began as an institution with around 400 students gradually evolved under his guidance into a vibrant educational network serving more than 4,500 students across diverse streams. His leadership ensured that academic excellence, discipline, and accessibility went hand in hand.

A man of conviction, he stood up for social justice during the Telangana Movement (1969-71) and even spent 17 days in prison, a reflection of his moral courage and commitment to society.

Under his stewardship, SGGBES grew into a group of institutions that include the Bankatlal Badruka College for Information Technology, Badruka Institute of Foreign Trade, Badruka Post Graduate Centre, Badruka Junior College for Girls, and Sri Laxmi Nivas Badruka Vidyarthi Gruha. Even in his eighties, his energy remained inspirational. At the age of 84, he laid the foundation stone for the Badruka School of Management at Dabilpur, leaving behind a living symbol of his vision for future generations.

76 Years of Growing Legacy

From a single college in 1950, the Badruka Educational Society has evolved into a multifaceted educational ecosystem, offering programmes in commerce, technology, arts, management, and business studies. Its alumni base of more than 1,00,000 graduates spans the globe, carrying forward the values of integrity, scholarship, and social responsibility.

The Platinum Jubilee of the Society is much more than a chronological milestone. It is an acknowledgment of:

- 76 years of academic excellence
- A deep and consistent commitment to community welfare
- A tradition of nurturing character along with competence

The journey of SGGBES is, in every sense, a legacy cast in platinum – enduring, resilient, and continually shining brighter with each new generation of learners.
